

Teamsters' Union Organizers Reject Unionization

You read that correctly.

Union organizers employed by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters will remain union-free¹.

Think about it. Teamsters' employees voted against unionization. These are employees whose job is to unionize organizations like Corewell Health by promoting unionization. Perhaps they didn't want to pay union dues, or didn't believe the union promises, or didn't mean to sign a union card?

The real question is:

If the Teamsters' union organizers don't want a union,
why should you?

Is unionizing the right choice for you?
